can distributed teams work?

what's a successful software project?

good software is simple reliable and has the right features more brain cells are good.

Corporate teams are too often isolated in their own watertight boxes...

A common, shared flow of information makes all the difference can distributed teams work?

Different cultures, timezones, mother tongues, habits.

Recipe for failure?

Open source success stories!

LINUX FOUNDATION

Semi-chaotic, multicultural, multi-timezone distributed teams that work.

When the two provides the two provides of two

(it's like open source)

everybody gets the same information
